Baby born in van before help arrives

BOY While four cars were involved in a crash on Route 105 in Chelsea, a woman gave birth in her van less than five minutes away.

MRC des Collines police were on scene at a four-car pileup at about 2:30 p.m. yesterday on Route 105 when they received a call that a woman was giving birth nearby.

Four officers left the crash scene and arrived at the van five minutes later. The 33-year-old mother was inside with her husband and two children.

Her new addition, a baby boy, was already born when police arrived.

The family was heading to their Ottawa midwife and pulled over when it became clear that the mother would not make it. A friend following in the car behind then phoned police.

The woman refused to be taken to hospital, and instead continued along to Ottawa to see her midwife.

As for the collision, three of the four drivers were taken to hospital with minor injuries. CTVOTTAWA.CA

Democratic presidential nominee U.S. Senator Barack Obama acknowledges the audience as he arrives onstage to address the final night at the 2008 Democratic National Convention in Denver, Colo., yesterday.

Obama kicks off White House race

Democratic pick lashes out at rival McCain in key speech

Declaring "we are a better country than this," Barack Obama launched a sharp assault on Republican presidential rival John McCain yesterday, promising to reverse the economic failures of the past eight years and restore America's reputation.

Obama, the first black White House nominee of a major U.S. party, linked McCain directly to President George W. Bush and said their failed Republican policies were responsible for a faltering U.S. economy and a decline in global standing.

"We are here because we love this country too much to let the next four years look just like the last eight," Obama told a crowd of about 75,000 supporters in Denver's stadium as he accepted the nomination at the Democratic convention.

"On Nov. 4th, we must stand up and say: 'Eight is enough,'" Obama said.

Obama's speech kicked off a two-month sprint to the Nov. 4 general election against McCain.

Obama said McCain, an Arizona senator, was out of touch with the day-to-day concerns of Americans and had been "anything but independent" on key issues like the economy, health care and education.

> "We are here because we love this country too much to let the next four years look just like the last eight."
> Barack Obama

"Now, I don't believe that Senator McCain doesn't care what's going on in the lives of Americans. I just think he doesn't know.

"Senator McCain likes to talk about judgment, but really, what does it say about your judgment when you think George Bush was right more than 90 per cent of the time?" Obama asked, citing McCain's voting record in the Senate. "I don't know about you, but I'm not ready to take a 10 per cent chance on change." REUTERS

Ottawa man faces child porn charges

ARREST An Ottawa man faces a number of charges relating to child pornography, city police said yesterday.

The Ottawa police high tech crime/child Internet exploitation team arrested and charged a 47-year-old man after executing a search warrant at a Barrhaven address last week.

Police seized a computer, video camera, CDs and DVDs from the home and charged the suspect with possession of child pornography, accessing child pornography and voyeurism.

While there is no minimum sentence for voyeurism, the charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in jail, said Detective Andrew Thompson with the Ottawa police high tech crime unit.

Possession of child pornography and accessing child pornography each carry a minimum 45 days and maximum five years in jail.

Paul David Beaudoin, 47, of Ottawa, is in court today for a show cause hearing.

The problem of child porn isn't just a problem in Ottawa, said Thompson.

"It's everywhere ... It doesn't have any boundaries."

Ottawa police work with police all over the world on these cases, he said.

The investigation here was conducted after Ottawa police received information from the RCMP's National Child Exploitation Coordination Centre in Ottawa, which got its information from the Federal Ministry of the Interior in Austria.

In turn, Ottawa police has "sent cases all over the world — New Zealand, Switzerland, the U.S., the U.K.," Thompson said. TRACEY TONG/METRO OTTAWA

Police looking for robbery suspect

At around 4 a.m., a man entered the convenience store at the Petro-Canada on Woodroffe Avenue and pretended to buy a can of pop when he pulled a scarf over his face and demanded money from the clerk. The suspect is described as a black male, 18 to 22 years old, 5'8" tall with a slim build. METRO OTTAWA

Ottawa

Traffic congestion likely this weekend

Between moving in and various events, it's going to be a busy one on Colonel By Drive and Bronson Avenue this weekend. Carleton will be holding its annual student residence move-in tomorrow and Sunday. Both days, the Colonel By Drive entrance to the university will be closed due to a triathlon and bike race. As there may be traffic congestion at the Bronson-Sunnyside university entrance, the university suggests the public find alternate travel routes between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. OC Transpo will also be re-routing its buses on campus to avoid Campus Avenue. CARLETON UNIVERSITY

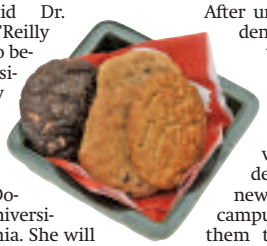
Welcome back

Students descend en masse as new school year begins

KATHRYN YOUNG
for Metro Ottawa

Carleton University's new president is continuing a tradition she's upheld for the past 20 years at previous schools: Handing out home-baked cookies to students as they move into residence.

"My experience is that students like chocolate chip," said Dr. Roseann O'Reilly Runte, who became president in July after serving seven years as president at Old Dominion University in Virginia. She will hand out 2,600 cookies tomorrow as students and their parents arrive with loaded vehicles.



"I've rarely met a student who wasn't willing to eat a cookie," Runte said. "They're a symbol of the warm welcome they get when they come to Carleton."

While her neighbours and some senior citizens have donated several hundred cookies, she will personally bake over 2,000 — and she's pretty well memorized the recipe.

This weekend, thousands of post-secondary students arrive in the city to start celebrating at dozens of orientation events.

Algonquin College will have about 16,000 full-time students this coming year while Carleton will have 24,000 and the University of Ottawa expects about 35,000 students to register. Many of the 2,885 students who will live at uOttawa have already started moving in, said media relations officer Nadine Saint-Amour.

After unpacking, students will ease into school life with a week of orientation events.

Seasoned veteran students will greet newcomers on all campuses and show them the ropes. At Carleton, those veterans are receiving training this week on how to deal with various problems new students might encounter, said media relations officer Steve Blais.

Orientation events include campus tours, raucous cheerleading sessions, breakfasts and barbecues, concerts, dances, live entertainment and volunteer work.

Busloads of students from Carleton, Algonquin and uOttawa will descend on IKEA during a special late-night after-hours shopping expedition Wednesday, said Blais.

Training serves up life skills for three

Despite having one of the busiest kitchens in the city, the Ottawa Mission finds time to train men and women to become cooks.

Yesterday, three graduates from the Ottawa Mission's food service training program received certificates and celebrated with a meal of their own making.

"I have learned many ways of cooking Canadian food," said Yaw Jimer, who immigrated to Canada last November from Ghana, took the six-month course and is now headed to Algonquin College for a one-year chef's training program.

Ric Watson, the Mission's manager of food services who oversaw the program — which is open to anyone who is receiving social services payments — said the graduates learned cooking theory as well as food preparation for small groups and large, since the Missions serves 1,100 meals each day.

"They wanted to change their lives," said Watson. "Part of the condition on coming is you have a desire to get off social services and get into the workforce."

One graduate already has a full-time job as a restaurant cook.

Watson said the course required 3.5 hours of work in the kitchen each day.

While some of the students stay at the shelter during the program, the Mission helps others find housing.

Over the past four years, the Mission has trained 29 men and women in the food services program. The next course starts Sept. 15.

Beautiful balloons dot Gatineau sky

FESTIVAL It's up, up and away for Gatineau's hot air balloon festival, which takes to the skies for the 21st year later today.

The Festival de Montgolfieres de Gatineau, which runs at De La Baie Park tonight through Labour Day Monday, features some new balloons this year. Forget the generically shaped hot air balloon — if you're a Star Wars fan, you won't want to miss the Darth Vader balloon, which is coming from Belgium for the first time.

"It was done with the approval of George Lucas, so it looks exactly like the character," said festival spokesman Eric Brulotte. "It's really impressive."

More than 200,000 people from across North America are expected to attend the festival, which features 61 hot air balloons, said Brulotte.

Flights take place each morning between 6:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. and every evening between 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Although flights are weather dependent — wind, rain and a low ceiling can kibosh plans, Brulotte said — there are plenty of other things to do during the festival. METRO OTTAWA

Better check your sunroof

POLICE Speeders and aggressive drivers heading out of Ottawa this holiday weekend better keep an eye on the sky as well as the road.

The Ontario Provincial Police will have aerial backup and expect to be busy over eastern Ontario, delivering speeding tickets, seizing vehicles and laying charges for impaired driving.

"With nice, clear weather people tend to forget their highway etiquette," said Sergeant Kristine Rae, of the Smiths Falls OPP. "We'll be there to remind them. Unfortunately, that will be done with a ticket." METRO OTTAWA

NDP, Bloc to meet with PM

Layton calling Harper's bluff

Prime Minister Stephen Harper will be clear to launch a federal election as early as this weekend after he meets with two of the three opposition party leaders, Conservative sources say.

Harper will meet with NDP leader Jack Layton and Bloc Québécois leader Gilles Duceppe this weekend.

The meetings aren't likely to throw the election march off course. Duceppe has vowed to introduce a motion of non-confidence in the government as soon as possible. And Layton, who initially said the prime minister should not ask Governor-General Michaëlle Jean to dissolve Parliament, is now calling Harper's bluff.

"I think the fix is in. I think he's going through a charade here."

"I'm going to tell him that if you want to quit your job, I'm going to apply for it," he told CBC-TV from Denver. "I think the fix is in. I think he's going through a charade here."

Health Canada looks at radiation for meat

Food safety experts are baffled why the Canadian government has not yet allowed food producers to zap meat and produce with enough radiation to kill deadly bacteria that cause outbreaks of food-borne disease.

Health Canada said Wednesday that it is considering approving the irradiation of meats by early 2009. But experts say the announcement, which rolled-out in the wake of a nation-wide outbreak of Listeriosis monocytogenes linked to ready-to-eat meats, is too late in coming.

"It's become obvious that a catastrophe has to happen before the technology can move forward"
Dennis Olson

"It's become obvious that a catastrophe has to happen before the technology can move forward," said Dennis Olson, a professor at Iowa State University and an international expert on irradiation

The U.S. approved irradiation in 2000. Critics say irradiation excuses food producers from safety procedures. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

New Tory ad casts Harper as family man

ELECTION The federal election has yet to be called but the battle on the airwaves has already started.

The Conservatives today launch a new television ad portraying Prime Minister Stephen Harper as a "straight up guy" and a family man.

The 30-second ad features a variety of people singing the praises of the Prime Minister and is aimed at placing Harper "squarely on the side of ordinary people with Dion being totally out of touch with his carbon tax," one Tory strategist said yesterday.

A Liberal strategist said the fact that Tories feel they have to showcase Harper in a favourable light shows they have fears about the public perceptions of the prime minister. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Preschool provides a long-term boost, study says

The United States will fall behind other countries in education if it does not embrace pre-schooling, the author of a British study said Thursday. Children at age 10 who had attended preschool scored 27 percent higher in math, and performed better in other subjects as well . REUTERS

No holy water in carry-ons

The Vatican has warned journalists who will travel with Pope Benedict to Lourdes next month not to put the revered water from the shrine in their hand luggage on the papal plane or it may be confiscated. The millions of pilgrims who visit the shrine each year drink from the site's fonts, many believing its water to be potentially miraculous. Most take bottles of it away with them. REUTERS

Abortion will remain legal in Mexico City: Judges

Mexico's Supreme Court yesterday upheld a law allowing abortion in the capital, handing a victory to city lawmakers over the country's conservative government and the Roman Catholic Church.

In an 8-3 vote, judges ruled not to overturn a city law approved in 2007 that legalized abortions on demand during the first trimester and established free public clinics.

The bells of the cathedral in the capital's historic Zocalo square pealed in mourning.

The landmark decision could open the door for other states in Mexico to follow the capital's lead in relaxing laws that criminalize abortion.

"It will surely establish a precedent for Mexico, for the other states and for the region of Latin America," said Maria Luisa Sanchez, director of abortion rights advocacy group GIRE "This is a triumph of the recognition of women's fundamental rights."

Tensions with Russia rising

Georgia conflict stoked by United States, Putin says

Russia faced increased diplomatic isolation over its military action against Georgia yesterday, with its Asian allies failing to offer support and France saying EU leaders were considering sanctions.

Moscow accused the West of heightening tension by a naval build-up in the Black Sea. Russia's powerful Prime Minister Vladimir Putin said in a CNN interview he suspected the United States had provoked the Georgia conflict to make the situation more tense and create "a competitive advantage for one of the candidates fighting for the post of U.S. president."

The U.S. State Department said it was "ludicrous" for the Russians to say they were not responsible for what had happened in Georgia.

Moscow has defied pressure from the United States and European powers to pull out of Georgia and looked east to its Asian allies, including China, for support at a regional summit. The grouping, meeting in the Tajik capital Dushanbe, repeated a regular call for the "respect of territorial integrity" and did not follow Russia's lead on recognizing the two breakaway regions of Georgia.

Prime Minister Vladimir Putin, in a CNN interview yesterday.

Putin added that Western nations will have to resolve the standoff over Iran's nuclear ambitions without Russia's help if they refuse to cooperate with Moscow.

The West, like Moscow, does not want Iran to use its nuclear program to build an atomic bomb. Tehran says its atomic work is only to make electricity.

Asked if the Georgia row could hurt U.S.-Russian cooperation on Iran, Putin said: "If nobody wants to talk with us on these issues and cooperation with Russia is not needed, then for God's sake, do it yourself." REUTERS

Gulf readies for Gustav

CLAUDIA DAUT/REUTERS

A dog and its owner walk through a flooded street in Havana, Cuba Monday. Torrential rains hit the city as forecasters predicted Hurricane Gustav would skirt the western coast of Cuba and enter the Gulf of Mexico as a powerful Category 3 hurricane by Sunday.

Tropical Storm Gustav was blamed yesterday for at least 68 deaths in the Caribbean and U.S. forecasters said it could hit New Orleans and Gulf of Mexico oil fields as a potentially powerful hurricane next week.

Energy companies prepared for Gustav to deliver what could be the hardest hit to the U.S. Gulf oil patch since the devastating 2005 hurricane season. Oil prices rose above $120 a barrel in early trade yesterday, adding to two days of gains as Gustav aimed deep into gas platforms off Louisiana and Texas.

The U.S. government and the International Energy Agency pledged to release emergency stockpiles if Gustav disrupts production in the area, which provides the U.S. with a quarter of its crude oil and 15 percent of its natural gas.

New Orleans remained in the range of possible landfall locations on the U.S. Gulf Coast. Residents were on alert for possible evacuations from Friday, the third anniversary of Katrina's strike.

In Jamaica, shops, post offices and schools shut their doors and authorities ordered nonessential workers to stay home as Gustav neared and began buffeting the island with high winds and torrential rains that soaked some sugar cane fields.

"I just saw part of my roof blow away."
Phillip Wright

"I just saw part of my roof blow away," said Phillip Wright, resident of an eastern parish where extensive damage to some homes was reported.

"This looks very serious. It is windy, rainy, trees are also falling down and we have no electricity," Wright told Reuters by telephone.

Gustav barged ashore as a hurricane in Haiti Tuesday, killing at least 59 people there and in the neighboring Dominican Republic. REUTERS

Monsoon floods eastern India

DISASTER More than 120,000 people have been evacuated from floods in eastern India, but more bad weather raised fears that rivers would continue to overflow, The flooding, which officials say is the worst in 50 years, came after the Kosi river burst a dam in Nepal, unleashing huge waves that smashed mud embankments further downstream in Bihar state. At least two million people have been forced from their homes and a quarter of a million houses destroyed. Stranded villagers complained of an unbearable stench from rotting carcasses and the United Nations warned of water-borne disease. Torrential rains have killed more than 1,000 people in South Asia since the monsoon began. REUTERS

Technical recession possible: Harper

Prime Minister Stephen Harper did not rule out the possibility the Canadian economy might have slipped into recession but said that if so, it would only be in a technical sense.

He spoke on the eve of the release of second quarter GDP data, which will show whether Canada has had negative growth for two successive quarters — the most popular technical definition of a recession.

Most analysts expect slightly positive second-quarter growth after the first quarter's annualized reading of -0.3 per cent.

"Even if (a technical recession is) true, I don't think it's a real recession," Harper said.

For some, a recession is when many jobs are lost, Harper said. But the economy remains strong and while employment numbers have softened they remained very high, he said.

Harper said: "I'm not trying to sugarcoat this. I said a year ago ... that 2008 would be a year of significantly slower economic growth" because of global economic circumstances.

He added that good policy choices and solid fundamentals will allow Canada to withstand a slowdown. REUTERS

Coin tosses Ivanovic out

World No. 1 Ana Ivanovic was knocked out of the U.S. Open in the second round in a shocking 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 upset by French qualifier Julie Coin last night.

The Serbian suffered the earliest exit by a women's top seed at the U.S. Open since tennis turned professional in 1968.

Lacking match practice after a right thumb injury, the 20-year-old world number one never found her groove against a player ranked 188th in the world, double faulting at key moments and repeatedly netting easy shots or hitting them long.

Coin's compatriot Severine Bremond and Italy's Tathiana Garbin continued a day of upsets. Bremond secured a 7-5 6-3 win over 20th seed Nicole Vaidisova and Garbin beat Hungarian 13th seed Agnes Szavay 5-7 6-2 6-3.

Venus Williams looked set to hand Paraguay's Rossana De Los Rios the dreaded whitewash after bagging the first seven games but eventually cantered to a 6-0, 6-3 win.

Her potential quarter-final opponent, sister Serena, also enjoyed an easy ride. She beat Russian Elena Vesnina 6-1 6-1.

On the men's side No. 1 Rafael Nadal fourth seed David Ferrer, sixth seed Andy Murray, No. 7 David Nalbandian ninth seed James Blake and 10th seed Stanislas Wawrinka all advanced.

Allen ready to return

Jays could ship out an infielder

• Don't be surprised if the Los Angeles Angels pick up one of the Toronto Blue Jays' middle infielders before MLB's trade deadline Monday. Sources tell Metro columnist Marty York that the Angels, determined to add depth for the post-season, have made strong pitches for John McDonald, David Eckstein and Marco Scutaro.

A 45-year-old grandfather who happens to be the leading passer in CFL history is ready to return to the league.

Sources have told Metro that Damon Allen, who retired before this season, expects to resurface as a backup quarterback with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Toronto Argonauts within 10 days.

For more on this story, as well as some new information concerning Ottawa's increasingly questionable return to the league, check out my newest CFL Report, exclusively at www.metronews.ca.

• Here's the latest from those pursuing an NFL franchise for Toronto:

The Buffalo Bills, despite their agreement to play games at the Rogers Centre during the next five seasons, will not — I repeat, will not — permanently move to Toronto.

There's a new plan in place, and it calls for Ted Rogers et al to acquire another NFL club, possibly the New Orleans Saints or San Diego Chargers, in time for the 2010 season.

• The so-called NFL experience in Toronto earlier this month, incidentally, turned out to be less-than-enjoyable for many fans, some of whom complained to Rogers customer-service executive Will Hill.

The game between the Bills and the Pittsburgh Steelers was tolerable, for preseason play, but everything surrounding it — including the ticket prices — were largely loathed.

A notable complaint came from a football fanatic who owns season-ticket subscriptions with the Bills, Steelers, Cleveland Browns, Minnesota Vikings, Miami Dolphins, Jacksonville Jaguars, Oakland Raiders, Kansas City Chiefs and Dallas Cowboys. Gus Lambrinakos, co-operator of the Ultimate Touch Football League in Toronto, also owns Argos' season-tickets.

Part of what Lambrinakos wrote to Hill:

"As a season-ticket holder to nine NFL teams (yup —that many), I was truly disappointed with the experience. There (was) no tailgate atmosphere and an awful game-day experience within the stadium. I'd rank it as the worst … I've been to and I have gone to hundreds of NFL games. We should let Buffalo host these games as we have no right to ruin this for fans who came all the way here to pay ridiculous ticket prices and get little in return. Seeing tickets with a $500 face value being re-sold (before kickoff) for $50 was a shame."

Hill replied, but Lambrinakos remains upset and dissatisfied.

• The NFL's regular season kicks off soon but their telecasts will no longer include commercials featuring moms peddling Campbell Soup.

The company has, er, canned the moms after six years. The reason: Campbell's research shows its target consumers — men in their 30s — have finally achieved soup independence.

Fall means thoughtful flicks

Here's a look ahead at what theatregoers can expect as the leaves turn

STEVE GOW
For Metro Canada

I'm sad to say it, but summer is coming to a close. However, with the turning of the leaves always comes the shifting of cinema fare from bloated effects-driven epics to more thoughtful, character-driven entertainment.

Here's Metro's peek at this autumn's most exciting highlights:

Burn After Reading (Sept. 12) – Following up on their Oscar-winning flick No Country For Old Men, the Coen brothers direct this comic crime-drama with a cast that includes George Clooney and Brad Pitt. Need I say more?

Burn After Reading will also have it's North American premiere Sept. 5 at the Toronto International Film Festival.

Righteous Kill (Sept. 12) – Robert DeNiro and Al Pacino play retiring cops whose latest investigation lead them to question a case they solved years before. Also starring Curtis (50 Cent) Jackson. Seriously.

Eagle Eye (Sept. 26) – Reuniting with Disturbia director D.J. Caruso, bad boy Shia LaBeouf is sent running by a mysterious stalking sadist whom he's never met. Surprisingly, it's not even based on his experiences with the paparazzi.

Mark Wahlberg and Mila Kunis star in Max Payne, expected in theatres this October.

Where the Wild Things Are (Oct. 3) – Spike Jonze has had problems filming this big-screen version of Maurice Sendak's classic 1963 children's book, but there's no doubt he'll make it great.

Hey, he got Being John Malkovich made, didn't he?

Body of Lies (Oct. 10) – Leo DiCaprio and Russell Crowe star in this CIA thriller about espionage, terrorism and crooked cops. With Ridley Scott (Gladiator) at the helm, it might end up three hours long, but it'll be a solid three hours.

Max Payne (Oct. 17) – Yes, it's another movie based on a videogame but with Mark Wahlberg playing a renegade cop battling "enemies beyond the natural world," it'll be anything but Payne-ful to watch. Ha! Sorry about that.

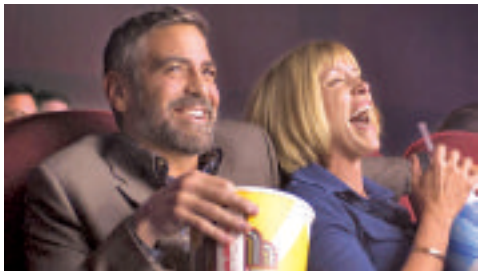
W (Oct. 17) – Oliver Stone has made movies about JFK, Nixon and now George W. Bush. Is it comedy? Drama?

Perhaps both, but one thing's certain: Josh Brolin might get that Oscar nomination he should've received for No Country For Old Men.

High School Musical 3: Senior Year (Oct. 24) – Okay, so this one's pure fluff but with the HSM phenomenon moving to the big-screen, we couldn't overlook what's sure to be one of the biggest movies of the year.

Saw V (Oct. 24) – Opening the same day as HSM 3, the latest bloodbath featuring the diabolical Jigsaw Killer won't go unnoticed. If only producers could've combined this with HSM! I'd surely pay to see Zac Efron chew off his own forearm to escape from one of Jigsaw's traps.

George Clooney could be Up in the Air



George Clooney, seen here in Burn After Reading.

CASTING George Clooney is in talks to star in Up in the Air, an adaptation of the 2001 Walter Kirn novel, with Juno director Jason Reitman behind the camera.

The Oscar-winning actor will play an unapologetic corporate downsizer whose untethered life is consumed with collecting air miles.

Reitman, whose feature debut was the satire Thank You for Smoking, has been working on his adaptation of Kirn's book for the past five years.

Clooney stars in the Coen brothers' farce Burn After Reading, which premiered Wednesday as the opening-night selection of the Venice Film Festival.

Kirn also wrote the novel Thumbsucker, which writer-director Mike Mills adapted into a film in 2005. REUTERS

Filmmakers plan scary Summer

A family of serial killers has drawn Twilight star Ashley Greene into their web in the edgy indie thriller Summer.

Stephen McHattie, Barbara Niven and Peter Mooney play the deranged kinfolk who Greene's character encounters on her quest to find the father she's never known.

Horror filmmaker Lee De Marbre is directing the tentatively titled film from a screenplay by Sean Hogan and Christine Conradt for producers Rob Menzies, Donald Osbourne and Curtis Crawford of Ottawa-based Zed Filmworks (The Dead Sleep Easy).

Greene's next big-screen role is in the December release Twilight, the vampire thriller adaptation of the best-selling young adult novel. REUTERS

Don Cheadle's Traitor more anguish movie than action

RICK MCGINNIS
Metro Canada

Traitor

Director: Jeffrey Nachmanoff
Stars: Don Cheadle, Guy Pearce, Said Taghmaoui
Classification: 14A
Rating: ●●½

REVIEW The title of the movie is supposed to suggest the job description of the protagonist, played by Don Cheadle, but you don't have to wait for the movie to come to an end before you're thinking that Cheadle's Samir Horn would probably have been better off in a different line of work.

Jeffrey Nachmanoff's Traitor takes its time setting up precisely what Cheadle's Horn does. We get a glimpse of his tragic childhood in Sudan, and when we rejoin him as an adult, he's selling arms to terrorists and ends up in a Yemeni prison where he becomes tight with his clients.

Eventually, it becomes clear that Horn is a spy working to infiltrate a terrorist network with big plans for another 9/11, and the bulk of the movie concerns his attempts to maintain his cover while two eager FBI agents try to track him down and prevent the attacks.

The look of misery on Cheadle's face as he gets deeper into the plot makes this more an anguish movie than an action movie.

Horn is made manifestly unhappy by every aspect of his job, from the accidental death of innocents in a bombing he engineers to his very real friendship with Omar (Said Taghmaoui), his recruiter to the terrorist cell.

He's betraying someone or something with every action he takes, but the film has a very conventional agenda and a place to be when the credits roll, so Horn's anguish just feels like the remains of a plotline left unexplored, and inspires a lot of moral tsuris that slows down the plot and make us wonder — even after the credits have rolled — just what moved Cheadle's Horn to become the world's glummest spy.

Versatile Guy Pearce discusses new flick

Australian actor Guy Pearce first grabbed the spotlight playing a demanding drag queen in the cult classic The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert.

The versatile actor quickly parlayed that starring turn into an international career with such hits as L.A. Confidential, The Time Machine and Memento.

In his new film Traitor, a spy thriller that opened in the United States on Wednesday, Pearce portrays an FBI agent hot on the trail of a mysterious terrorist played by Don Cheadle.

Pearce, whose credits include The Proposition and Two Brothers, spoke about the film and his struggle to find balance between work and life:

Q: Is it true comedian Steve Martin came up with the original idea for Traitor?

A: Yes, but I wasn't that surprised. We all know that comedians have a dark side and are a bit screwed up (laughs). He's obviously a very clever man and hes written a lot.

Guy Pearce

Q: Traitor tackles some very controversial issues, including terrorism and religion.

A: And I think there's a lot at the heart of it. In this age of fear and the war going on, we can get a bit flippant about the number of deaths. Everything becomes technical, and you can forget that there are people who are conflicted and struggling with their beliefs. The idea of communication going wrong is at the centre of so many problems in the world generally. And in this film you have my character with the FBI, and then the CIA have another agenda. And they're not communicating.

In the middle is Don's character with this very emotional dilemma. As a Muslim, he's bound by his religious beliefs, but also what the country expects of him. And religion and government are such big, structured entities, that the personal stuff can get lost. What's great about this film is that it gets very personal.

Q: This was the first film directed by Jeffrey Nachmanoff (screenwriter of The Day After Tomorrow). Did that make you nervous?

A: No, because he's the most confident guy I've ever met – and not in that bravado sense. He's exceptionally intelligent and has a very adept sense of capturing on film what he wanted to get, so it felt like dealing with an old pro.

Q: Acting is quite childlike in a way, so what are you like when you're not working?

A: (Laughs) Yeah, it is childlike – dressing up and pretending to be other people! I'm not super-mature. When I did Two Brothers it was right in the middle of me wanting to take a year off. I had – not a breakdown – but a sort of overload of work and so on, and I decided to take some time out.

The time out allowed me to grow up a bit and reassess my life. I was sick of the industry and thinking, maybe I want to get out. But I gradually realized I didn't want to get out permanently, I just wanted to be a bit more mature and have more control over my career choices. REUTERS

Connery's memoirs no 'kiss and tell'

New book light on intimate details

If you are looking for kiss-and-tell stories about the Bond girls or movie-town gossip, Sean Connery's memoirs are not for you.

More of a coffee table book, the renowned Scottish actor's autobiography, Being a Scot, is a heavyweight tome written in collaboration with Scottish filmmaker Murray Grigor.

The book, launched on Connery's 78th birthday this week at the Edinburgh International Book Festival, relates his 1930s childhood in the poor Fountainbridge area of Edinburgh.

He details his break into acting by way of milk delivery boy, the Royal Navy (invalided out with ulcers), art college model, bodybuilder and – almost – professional footballer.

But the book is sparse on intimate detail, with Connery apparently shy of revealing too much of his inner self, or of any of the rumoured liaisons he may have had.

A passionate Scot, he devotes much of the well-illustrated work to Scotland itself, its history, art, literature, architecture and poetry. He lives, however, in the Bahamas, having vowed not to reside in his homeland until it achieves independence.

The Bond films made him world famous. He is regarded as having defined the movie role of Ian Fleming's James Bond following his appearance in 1962's Dr. No.

Connery was as discreet as his memoirs at the book launch. Asked if he had a favourite leading lady, he replied, "Not really, no."

The book is published by Weidenfeld and Nicolson. The original idea was for the leading Edinburgh publisher Cannongate to publish, but the Scotsman newspaper reported that the deal fell through due to differences over the book's contents. REUTERS

Spielberg still on board to direct first Tintin movie

Although Brussels' Herge Studios seems to think otherwise, Steven Spielberg remains committed to directing the first in a planned Tintin trilogy for DreamWorks.

It will be his next directing effort after this summer's Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull, which has grossed $780 million US worldwide.

Herge Studios, which holds the rights to the iconic comic strip character, said Tuesday via a spokesman that Peter Jackson was moving into the director's chair for the first film.

But both Jackson's and Spielberg's representatives say that Jackson will direct the sequel and serve only as a producer on the first film.

In the meantime, Jackson will finish postproduction on The Lovely Bones for DreamWorks/Paramount before moving on to co-write the two Hobbit movies for New Line and MGM.

The first Tintin feature will be based on two books, The Secret of the Unicorn and Red Rackham's Treasure, written by Tintin creator Herge – the pen name of Belgian artist Georges Remi – between 1942 and 1944.

The film, scripted by Stephen Moffat, a writer on the British sci-fi series Doctor Who, will be animated with motion-capture technology.

It stars 18-year-old Thomas Sangster as the title character and Andy Serkis, who played Gollum in Jackson's Lord of the Rings trilogy, as Tintin's friend Captain Haddock. REUTERS

Facebook story to be made into film

Writer-producer Sorkin in negotiations

Writer-producer Aaron Sorkin, creator of The West Wing, is about to get a whole lot of friends on Facebook.

Sorkin, one of Hollywood's highest-profile writers and TV show creators, is in negotiations to write an untitled film project about the founders of the popular social networking site.

Sorkin broke the news on Facebook when he opened up his own account.

"I figured a good first step in my preparation would be finding out what Facebook is, so I've started this page. (Actually it was started by my researcher, Ian Reichbach, because my grandmother has more Internet savvy than I do and she's been dead for 33 years)."

Sorkin also asked the Facebook public for any stories relating to the site.

Facebook was founded by Mark Zuckerberg while studying at Harvard along with pals Dustin Moskovitz and Chris Hughes. Membership at first was restricted to Harvard students, then expanded to all Ivy League schools before going on to open up to all universities and high schools in Canada and the U.S. The site now has more than 100 million users worldwide.

He's fielded offers in the billions of dollars, but Zuckerberg has steadfastly remained independent.

Sorkin's most recent screenwriting credit is the film Charlie Wilson's War, starring Tom Hanks, Julia Roberts and Philip Seymour Hoffman. REUTERS

Actor Terrence Howard hopes to be music hit, too

Terrence Howard earned an Oscar nomination for his role as a pimp aspiring to be a rapper in Hustle and Flow, but the 2005 movie also shone a spotlight on the actor's musical talents and helped him land a record deal.

Howard releases his debut album Shine Through It Tuesday. But it's nothing like the hip-hop he performed as Djay, which included Three 6 Mafia's 2006 Academy Award-winning song It's Hard Out Here for a Pimp.

"I'm more ... Latin, jazz, orchestral, folk. It's a lot of big sounds, all live instruments," Howard said in an interview.

Howard, 39, scored a two-record deal with Columbia Records after running into a company executive as he returned hungover to his hotel after an all-night Oscar party in 2006.

"They opened up my budget to about $150,000 for me to experiment for two weeks in the studio – six days later I completed my album," said Howard, who wrote all 11 songs on the record and played guitar.

Terrence Howard

"I hired all my musicians and we kind of jammed out ... I gave everyone complete autonomy."

The twice-divorced father of three said the inspirations for his album were the "faults and failures in my life, hopes and dreams for my future, trying to remain as present as possible but as conscious of yesterday and tomorrow as I can."

His children, he says, helped him write songs and sang on the album.

As he gears up for an Iron Man sequel and writes songs for his second album, Howard says he is unsure if acting or music will become his top priority.

"(The music) is part of what I am supposed to be doing. How long I'm supposed to do it, I don't know." REUTERS

Coens' new comedy divides critics

The Coen brothers' latest film, the madcap comedy Burn After Reading, has sharply divided the critics, unlike last year's acclaimed No Country For Old Men, which won four Oscars including best picture.

Early reviews of the eagerly-awaited picture have begun to appear following its world premiere at the Venice film festival on Wednesday, which brought A-listers George Clooney and Brad Pitt, and hundreds of screaming fans, to the red carpet.

Trade paper Variety panned the comic spy spoof, calling it a "flameout".

"Nothing about the project's execution inspires the feeling that this was ever intended as anything more than a lark, which would be fine if it were a good one," wrote Todd McCarthy.

"As it is, audience teethgrinding sets in early and never lets up."

Many of the warm words he had for Burn After Reading were reserved for Pitt, appearing in a Coen film for the first time.

Like several other critics, McCarthy praised Pitt's portrayal of a naive, hyperactive gym instructor who tries to extort money from a sacked CIA analyst whose sensitive memoirs he stumbles across when a computer disc is dropped by accident.

"Pitt slices the ham very thick indeed, but uniquely emerges as endearing in doing so," he said.

At the other end of the scale was Screen International's Lee Marshall, who called the movie "a beautifully produced mix of spy story, U.S. zeitgeist satire and relationship drama.

"(Burn) is a smart urban screwball comedy about the perils of idiocy that uses its all-star cast to dazzling and often hilarious effect."

Wendy Ide of the Times in London gave the film four stars out of five, and singled out Pitt and John Malkovich as the best performances.

MANNIE GARCIA/REUTERS

Brad Pitt rides with his son Maddox in a water taxi at the Venice film festival yesterday. Pitt and George Clooney star in Ethan and Joel Coen's new spy comedy Burn After Reading.

Malkovich is the heavy-drinking, aggressive CIA analyst, while Clooney, appearing in his third Coen movie, plays an exercise-obsessed federal marshall who cheats on his wife.

Ide's main reservation is that the cast of characters it would be fair to describe as idiotic fails to elicit much sympathy in the audience. "It would perhaps be more rewarding if we could like the characters as well as laugh at them," Ide concludes.

Kirk Honeycutt of The Hollywood Reporter, in a mixed review, calls Burn "a minor piece of silliness with all the trappings of an A-list studio movie."

In conclusion, he quotes a line from a CIA officer in the movie who has just been told about the baffling series of events surrounding the missing memoirs.

"Report back to me when it makes sense."

"I haven't even heard about it. I don't ever pay attention to that stuff. She's one of my best friends in the whole wide world and honestly, when you're sitting in a room for three hours doing satellite interviews — we were staring at a Post-It with a smiley face — so I think I probably rolled my eyes a hundred times."

The House Bunny

(out of 5)

REVIEW Written by the team behind Legally Blonde (who must be legally out of ideas), this dud tells the story of an aging model (Anna Faris) who joins a sorority after she's ejected from the Playboy Mansion. Attempting to be empowering, the film ends up embarrassing with characters so insipid and one-dimensional that to squeeze any depth from this flick would be like searching for theological subtext in a Jonas Brothers song.

Steve Gow/Metro Canada

The Longshots

REVIEW Directed by Limp Bizkit frontman Fred Durst (seriously!), this is the true story of a girl (Keke Palmer) inspired to play football by her uncle (Ice Cube). While Cube is decent enough, the plot moves too quickly and is short on conflict. In the end, that's the film's biggest downfall – sure, it's harmless enough, but The Longshots' saccharine intent to inspire is simply overbearing.

Steve Gow/Metro Canada

Star Wars: The Clone Wars

REVIEW The Clone Wars sticks Anakin Skywalker and company in the middle of an intergalactic war between the clones and the droids. In reality, this movie kicks-off a new animated series and highlighting where this film truly belongs – on TV. Sure, it's an interesting combination of CGI and anime but the story itself is about as compelling as watching somebody play a videogame for 90 minutes.

Steve Gow/Metro Canada

Tropic Thunder

REVIEW Ben Stiller leads the all-star cast of Jack Black, Robert Downey Jr. and even Tom Cruise (in a surprising role that's sure to relieve those who thought he'd all but beamed up to Planet Thetan) in this spoof of Hollywood egos and icons.

Stiller plays Tugg Speedman, a fleeting action star leading the cast of a fictional war film being shot in Southeast Asia.

After the movie goes over budget, the actors are sent into the jungle to capture "real fear in their eyes". Instead, the gang loses their director, get lost themselves and fall prey to real terrorists. The twist: They're convinced it's all part of the movie. It's a great premise and one that doesn't let down with its cast.

Steve Gow/Metro Canada

Pineapple Express

REVIEW Produced by Judd Apatow and starring Hollywood's favorite court jester Seth Rogen, this film is a Midnight Run-type caper about a dope-smoking process server who goes on the lam with his hapless drug dealer (James Franco) after witnessing a murder. Sure, it's a hollow story and the pacing is uneven, but this comedy still works as an impossibly hip comedy about impossibly uncool characters.

Steve Gow/Metro Canada

The Sisterhood of the Travelling Pants 2

REVIEW Sisterhood 2 explores how four friends — America Ferrera, Blake Lively, Amber Tamblyn and Alexis Bledel — handle increasingly adult responsibilities in their ever-separating lives, all the while struggling to maintain their childhood friendships. At the end of the day, Sisterhood 2 is a big cheer.

Jim Reyno/Metro Canada

Swing Vote

REVIEW Earnest (Bud) Johnson – an affable small-town screwup who accidentally gets the chance to determine the outcome of the U.S. Presidential election – is pretty much the prototypical Kevin Costner role: the aw-shucks messiah whose basic decency wins the day. The film is a debacle.

Adam Nayman/Metro Canada

The Dark Knight

REVIEW When the psychopathic villain The Joker (played by the late Heath Ledger) terrorizes Gotham City, Batman (Christian Bale) is tangled in a moral struggle. Christopher Nolan creates a stunning visual masterpiece and captures mesmerizing performances by Bale and Ledger.

Suge Knight faces assault charge

ARRESTED

Knight

Rap music mogul Marion "Suge" Knight was arrested on charges of assault and domestic violence Wednesday after punching his girlfriend and pulling a knife on her during an argument, Las Vegas police said.

Knight, 43, co-founder of the rap label Death Row Records, also was charged with two drug offenses when he was found to be in possession of ecstasy and the prescription narcotic Hydrocodone, police said in a statement.

Knight was arrested without incident. REUTERS

No cramping their style

AMANDA TRUSCOTT
for Metro Canada

The men of the Midway State have traded their bunk beds for a tour bus, and they couldn't be happier about it, even if the bus and the cramped room they once shared have more in common than they would like.

The original tight quarters were the price the band paid to move from Collingwood to Toronto. Drummer Daenen Bramberger explains, "We were just out of high school. We didn't have a lot of money, so the four of us split one out of a two bedroom apartment, with two bunk beds, just so we could be here in the thick of it."

Singer-pianist Nathan Ferraro adds, "When you wake up in the morning and there's like, a tiny a room and four dudes sleeping in it every night, it's kind of like a tour bus, you know, so we're kind of back to square one."

In that sense, maybe, but with some crucial differences: new bass and guitar players, a debut album released by Interscope Records, and an iTunes Single of the Week that got rave reviews from downloaders.

Midway State's new album Holes is a catchy, soulful blend of piano-driven, hook-heavy songs reminiscent of Coldplay and Ben Folds.

Their album, Holes, is a catchy, soulful blend of piano-driven, hook-heavy songs reminiscent of Coldplay and Ben Folds.

Their music caught the attention of industry executives after they released the video for their song "Change for You" over YouTube.

Stevo of Sum 41 directed the video, done in one continuous, unedited shot.

"If you could see the behind-the-scenes footage, it's crazy. Like, forty people running around and throwing stuff out of the way," says Ferraro.

"When the camera would zoom in on my face, all the crew would come in and change the set behind me, and these guys would change clothes and run in and out, then it would zoom out and it would be like a new room."

Guitarist Michael Wise chimes in, "I was recovering from a broken ankle, so I had to like, hobble in and out of the frame."

"Oh yeah, I forgot about that," laughs bassist Michael Kirsh.

Ferraro says, "It was kind of like a magic video for us in a way because it was so just like off-the-cuff, but it turned out to be a huge thing for our band."

Ferraro says he knows the hard work has just begun. "Record label or no record label, we're still just at the beginning of our career, and we know that we've got a lot of work ahead of us, and we're totally just ready to go no matter what."

AC/DC prepare to drop another high-voltage album

SoundCheck

Alan Cross
alan@ongoinghistory.com

Much has changed since Feb. 29, 2000, the day that AC/DC released their last album. George W. Bush was not yet U.S. president. The World Trade Center was still standing. The iPod was still more than a year away. And the music industry sold nearly a billion CDs a year.

But on Planet AC/DC (est. 1973), it's business as usual, despite a gap of eight years, seven months and 23 days between albums. When Black Ice is released on Oct. 21, it'll sound like 1980 all over again. I heard three new songs last week (including the first single, Rock'n'Roll Train, which was released to radio yesterday) and all the sensations of listening to Back in Black on cassette in my '79 Firebird came rushing back. Angus riffs — will he ever run out of guitar riffs? — Brian shreds his throat and the rest of the band burbles like a V8 engine in 4/4 time. Same as it ever was. It's comforting.

While everyone knows that Michael Jackson and Celine Dion sell gazillions of albums, AC/DC isn't far behind. They've sold 200 million albums since 1973, 45 million of which are Black in Black. Their back catalogue sales are second to only the Beatles. (Fascinating stat: while U.S. album sales declined 19 per cent last year, sales of AC/DC CDs were up 41 per cent.)

Angus Young
TORSTAR FILE

And when they launch the world tour in support of Black Ice — which will include a two-pronged Canadian attack — they'll sell millions of tickets and t-shirts to three generations of fans.

Digital downloads? Selling through iTunes? Not gonna happen. As a rep from their record company told me: "We've had the conversation about digital with them, but they aren't interested." AC/DC is in the business of selling records and CDs. Period.

And they're going to sell a lot of them. While all Canadian retailers will get a shot at selling Black Ice, Americans will have to go to Wal-Mart or Sam's Club — the last great sellers of CDs in the US — to buy their copy. Smart move. A similar deal cut with the Eagles helped them sell 2.98 million copies of Long Road Out of Eden since last year, 700,000 of which came in the first week. If AC/DC doesn't do a million in the first seven days, I'll be shocked.

More on AC/DC today at ongoinghistory.com.

While U.S. album sales declined 19 per cent last year, sales of AC/DC CDs were up 41 per cent

You and Me and The Walkmen

BRYAN BORZYKOWSKI
for Metro Canada

Some people never learn. Two years ago, New York-based indie rockers The Walkmen spent months writing and recording their third record, A Hundred Miles Off. At the time lead singer Hamilton Leithauser bemoaned the many hours it took to create the disc and vowed never waste so much time again. Fast forward two years.

"This one took even longer. It really did," he says, still exasperated by all the long days he spent working on the band's new disc, You & Me.

This time around, Leithauser has no good excuse for why the process took about two years from start to finish. At first he says the band didn't want to make any mistakes, but then admits that he can't understand why they couldn't get it done faster. "I wish I knew," he says. "There were just a few versions of the songs, that for one reason or another, I don't know why, but they just sounded absolutely awful."

Maybe the band just needed a warm up recoding session. The gravelly voiced songwriter reveals that none of the version of the songs they originally recorded made the finished record. "I think we were premature going in," he says. "I was trying to add string parts and backup vocals to tracks that had already been mastered — it was very expensive."

The sales of the digital version of The Walkmen's new album, You And Me, will be donated to a cancer charity in New York.

in concert

- The Walkmen play La Sala Rosa in Montreal on Sept. 9

There's also the not so easy task of getting five band members to agree on how a song should sound. That process alone can take a while. "It's always been a matter of working five days a week for us," he explains. "There's endless planning until you like something and then it's a matter of that lasting and matching all five guys' tastes."

Although he still seems frustrated by the experience, the finished product is what really matters. The morning of our interview, Leithauser finally received his copy of You & Me. "We spent so much time on track order and getting the cover right. It's so satisfying to hold the disc in my hands."

Hearing the disc must be rewarding too. Like their previous records, The Walkmen have created a solid collection of rambling, Dylan-esque rock tunes. Sales of the digital version of the album, You And Me, will be donated to a charity in New York.

However, the songs aren't nearly as upbeat as the band's seminal tune The Rat. In fact, seven of the album's 14 tracks could be considered waltzes, as they're in 6/8 time.

"We just got bored of rock," says Leithauser, explaining why they abandoned the traditional 4/4 time on half the tracks. "It's a lot easier to write. It's more sweeping and it's just what was working."

Leithauser's not sure if the next album will stray farther from their rock 'n' roll roots, but he better figure it out soon. The group's managed to release a new album about every two years, so at speed they record at, The Walkmen need to head back into the studio right now.

"Yeah, we need to get writing again," he says. "This one was a monster, but we're not going to get back into that."

"There's endless planning until you like something and then it's a matter of that lasting and matching all five guys' tastes."
Hamilton Leithauser

Man arrested for GNR leak

U.S. Federal officials on Wednesday arrested a man on suspicion of violating copyright laws for placing songs on the Internet from an unreleased album by rock band Guns N' Roses.

Kevin Cogill, 27, who has no known direct affiliation with Guns N' Roses, posted nine tracks from the band's upcoming album Chinese Democracy on his Web site, said Laura Eimiller, a spokeswoman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The long-awaited upcoming album from Guns N' Roses, a hard-rocking group that came to fame in 1987 with the album Appetite for Destruction, is the band's first since 1993 .

An FBI agent said in an affidavit that Cogill admitted to posting the tracks on the Internet at www.antiquiet.com.

Cogill removed the tracks from the Web site, but by then the songs had circulated widely, Eimiller said. REUTERS

Seinfeld fires back at lawsuit with own

IN COURT Comedian Jerry Seinfeld has launched legal action after the woman who claims his wife plagiarized her cookbook also accused him of slander, imdb.com reports.

In a counter-lawsuit filed in Manhattan federal court on Wednesday, Seinfeld hits back at chef Missy Chase Lapine, who sued his wife Jessica in January.

Jerry Seinfeld

Lapine claimed best-selling cookbook Deceptively Delicious had been "brazenly plagiarized" from her own book The Sneaky Chef, both of which describe how to hide healthy ingredients in children's foods.

Seinfeld's subsequent appearance on The Late Show with David Letterman, calling Lapine a "wacko" and "mentally unhinged celebrity stalker," prompted the chef to add a defamation charge against the funnyman.

Seinfeld's lawyers are reportedly vying to get the defamation suit against him dismissed, insisting his stint on the show was meant for laughs and is protected by his First Amendment right to freedom of speech.

Miniseries hits high

VERONICA BOODHAN
for Metro Canada

CBC is climbing to catastrophic heights this weekend, airing Everest, a two-part miniseries depicting Canadian Laurie Skreslet's journey to the top of the landmark mountain.

An all-Canadian cast portrays the roles of the notable ensemble, starring Eric Johnson as Skreslet. Also in the film are Jason Priestley and William Shatner.

The miniseries illustrates Skreslet's story of becoming the first Canadian to reach the top of the peak.

"For me, I read the script and it was this great sort of adventure, a lot of action and a lot of heart," said Johnson. "The prospect of shooting for two months in the Canadian Rockies is also a pretty attractive idea."

Johnson, originally from Alberta, gravitated to the role, obtaining the opportunity to learn how to climb as part of the film.

To prepare for the role, Johnson met and spoke with Skreslet to learn more about the Canadian climber.

"It was nice being able to talk to him and get an idea of what was going through his mind at the time (of the climb)," said Johnson.

Everest recounts the story of Canadian Laurie Skreslet's climbing of Mount Everest. It airs Sunday and Monday on CBC at 8 p.m.

While speaking with Skreslet, Johnson found something they share in common.

"The single-minded determination to make it to the top. For me, I've had the same sort of determination with my career," said Johnson.

Director Graeme Campbell helped choose the actors, including Johnson, for Everest's starring roles. He wanted to capture the essence of the real lives depicted in the film.

"The people that really did make this climb learned to battle the elements and ultimately, they learn to battle themselves and overcome their own weaknesses to get to the top," said Campbell.

Mount Everest is more than just a mountain; it symbolizes achievement, according to Campbell. For the audience, he wants each viewer to learn something from the miniseries.

"I want the public to take away a feeling of what it takes to actually get to your best. I think that's what our climbers show and I think our actors portray that very well," said Campbell. "It's a little known story of Canadian history that I think should be told, too."

"I want the public to take away a feeling of what it takes to actually get to your best."

New Fall Service

New Fall Service

On Sunday, August 31, fall service changes go into effect on most bus routes, so be sure to get your new timetable. Most routes have seasonal schedule adjustments, service increases or routing changes.

Major changes will affect Routes 84, 85, 94, 95, 107, 111 and 316, and the area of Greenboro/Hunt Club, Elmvale, St. Laurent, Smyth Road and the Hospital Complex. Several new routes will also be introduced: 98, 106, 112, 114, 121, 153, 158 and 162. Many changes are a result of the public consultation process — Transplan 2008 — while some are adjustments to meet changing transit needs. See the "Highlights" for details.

Labour Day

Sunday service operates on Labour Day, September 1. OC Transpo Sales and Information Centres and Telephone Centre will be open.

Highlights

Greenboro/Hunt Club, Elmvale, St. Laurent, and Smyth Road/Hospitals

84 Will be cancelled and replaced by two new routes that will improve service reliability and provide better service to downtown and a direct connection to Tunney's Pasture. The combined frequency of the two routes in Greenboro/Hunt Club Park will be similar to the current 84. See new Routes 98 and 114 below.

85 Will be shortened to operate from Bayshore to Hurdman Station in order to improve schedule adherence and reliability. East of Hurdman, service will be provided by new Route 106 along Smyth Road, and by new Route 114 along St. Laurent Blvd. north of Elmvale. See below for details.

98 Will replace a portion of Route 84 serving Greenboro/Hunt Club Park, and will supplement Route 97 along the Transitway between South Keys and Tunney's Pasture.

Route 98 will operate from Hawthorne at Hunt Club and through the Greenboro/Hunt Club Park community via Blohm to the Transitway. Some trips will end at Greenboro Station, but most will be extended to downtown and Tunney's Pasture, including on weekends. Route 98 will operate every 5 minutes in the peak period. See new Route 114 for service through the community to Elmvale and St. Laurent.

Service on Esson and on Hunt Club between Esson and Blohm will be discontinued due to the extension of Route 98 along Blohm and Hunt Club to Hawthorne.

106 Will replace a portion of Route 85 from Hurdman to Elmvale. Route 106 will follow the same routing as the 85 along Smyth Road via the hospital complex.

Route 106 will operate the same hours as Route 85 and at a similar or greater frequency. On weekday morning peak periods from Hurdman to the hospitals, and in the afternoons from the hospitals to Hurdman, trips will operate every 7 or 8 minutes. The frequency between the hospitals and Elmvale will vary from 15 to 30 minutes.

Customers from Blair or Orléans should transfer at Hurdman to Route 106, which will be faster than the current transfer to Route 85 at St. Laurent.

111 Will be revised to operate from Lincoln Fields along its current routing to Billings Bridge, then via the Transitway to Hurdman Station. This shorter routing will help improve schedule adherence and service reliability, while providing a new connection to Hurdman Station.

Service will be provided by new Route 112 from Billings Bridge to Elmvale via Baycrest, Walkley and Russell, by new Route 121 along Belfast, and by new Route 114 between Elmvale and St. Laurent, as described below.

Service on Belfast north of Tremblay will continue to be provided by Route 18. For service on Coventry, customers can take Route 18 nearby, or walk to St. Laurent Station.

112 Will replace a portion of Route 111 along the same streets as Route 111 from Billings Bridge to Elmvale via Baycrest, Walkley and Russell. Route 112 will operate at similar hours and frequency as Route 111. Service from Elmvale to St. Laurent will be provided by new Route 114 described below.

114 Will replace portions of Routes 84, 85 and 111. Buses will operate from Greenboro Station through the Greenboro/Hunt Club Park community via the regular 84 routing to Karsh, Johnston and Conroy, then the regular routing to Elmvale, St. Laurent and Hurdman Station. Along St. Laurent Blvd., between Hurdman Station and Elmvale, Route 114 will operate every 10 minutes during the day and will provide frequent service to St. Laurent and Conroy in peak periods. Route 114 will operate every 30 minutes through the community and, combined with Route 98, will provide a frequent service through the community.

121 Will provide a new direct service to the Train Yards shopping district, Canada Post and businesses along Belfast Road. Buses will operate between Hurdman and St. Laurent Stations via Terminal, Trainyards, Belfast and St. Laurent Blvd. Service will operate seven days a week, every 20 or 30 minutes, from approximately 5 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on weekdays, 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturdays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

East - Orléans

94 Will be expanded to provide new service on weekends. Buses will operate every 30 minutes between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Saturdays, and 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sundays. Service will also be extended to operate until 10 p.m. on weekday evenings, and the number of trips to Millennium will be increased.

130 Will be renamed Convent Glen instead of Local North, and Fallingbrook instead of Local South.

131 Will be renamed Convent Glen instead of Local North, and Chapel Hill instead of Local South.

135 Will be renamed Avalon instead of Local South, and Place d'Orléans instead of Orléans.

136 Will be renamed Fallingbrook instead of Local South, and Place d'Orléans instead of Orléans.

137 Will be renamed Queenswood Heights instead of Orléans.

West - Kanata and Stittsville

162 Will be a new peak period route serving the Brookside community in Kanata North, which will provide residents with a new connection to Transitway service and shorter walking distances to transit.

Buses will operate via Maxwell Bridge, Marconi, Shirley's Brook, Helmsdale, Terry Fox and March Road to Eagleson Station in the morning, and the reverse in the afternoon. Service will operate approximately every 30 minutes at a regular fare.

163 Will have extended hours in the peak periods for improved transit service to this growing community.

164 Will start earlier and end later on Saturdays for improved service to the community.

261 Will be extended to start at the north end of Stittsville Main at Denali in order to serve this new residential development and reduce walking distances for customers. Buses will travel south along Stittsville Main, then via Hazeldean to West Ridge and continue along the regular routing.

Southwest - Barrhaven

70 Will be extended along Kennevale to Strandherd to bring service closer to residents and shorten walking distances.

95 On weekends, new service will be provided in Barrhaven in order to improve connections for residents. Buses will operate along the regular weekday routing from Fallowfield Station to Barrhaven Centre from 9 a.m. to midnight on Saturdays, and from 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. on Sundays.

171 Will be extended to the new residential development in Stonebridge west of Jockvale, in order to bring service closer to residents and shorten walking distances. Buses will operate during weekday peak periods, along Kilbirnie to Kilmarnock, with service approximately every 30 minutes.

From Monday to Saturday, the last three southbound trips from Fallowfield will end at Marketplace, instead of Stonebridge, due to low ridership.

Other

3 Will travel in both directions along the north and east sections of Colonnade, instead of the current one-way loop.

5 Will provide hourly service to the Garry J. Armstrong Home (Island Lodge) to accommodate the expansion.

45 Will be rerouted in the afternoon to follow the same pattern as the morning trips from South Keys Station via Hunt Club, Bridlepath, Albion and Leitrim to Limebank, instead of Hunt Club, River Road and Limebank

95 Will be increased throughout the day on weekdays, with service operating as frequently as every two minutes during the busiest times to accommodate growth. See also Barrhaven.

96 Will be increased in the early evening westbound, with service operating as frequently as every three minutes during the busiest times, to accommodate growth.

105 Will operate more frequently between LeBreton Station and Gatineau due to the removal of Route 180.

107 Will be renumbered Route 158 and will be revised to operate in both directions during peak periods to provide a new peak period service for residents of Citiplace and Moffatt Farm. See new Route 158 below for more details.

117 Will be reinstated on weekdays between Carleton University and Baseline Station.

153 Will replace the western portion of Route 316 in order to improve service efficiency and will operate at the same hours and frequency. Connections to the Rideau Centre and Route 316 can be made on Bank Street to Routes 1, 2, 4 and 7, and on Elgin Street to Routes 5, 6 and 14. Buses will travel between LeBreton Station and Cartier at Somerset via the current 316 routing, with the exception of the section serving Elgin, Pretoria, Metcalfe and Argyle. These streets will continue to be served by Route 6, which operates Monday to Friday.

158 Will replace Route 107. Route 158 will operate in both directions in both peak periods between Hurdman Station and Colonnade. This will provide residents of Citiplace and Moffatt Farm with a direct connection to Transitway service.

Will be modified to travel westbound via Heron and Baseline, instead of Canada Post roadway and Hog's Back Bridge. Additionally, buses will travel along the north and west sections of Colonnade in both directions, instead of a one-way loop.

The new service to Hurdman in the morning peak period, and to Citiplace and Moffatt Farm in the afternoon, will operate approximately every 30 minutes.

180 Will be replaced with extra trips on Route 105 that will operate between LeBreton Station and Gatineau.

316 Will be shortened to travel from Sandy Hill to the Rideau Centre to improve service efficiency. The western portion of Route 316, from LeBreton to Cartier and Somerset, will be provided by new Route 153 described above. The section of Route 316 that serves Elgin, Pretoria, Metcalfe and Argyle will only be served by Route 6, Monday to Friday.

Route 316 will be connected with Route 6 at the Rideau Centre on weekdays, so that customers can remain on the bus and continue to have service to downtown and Elgin Street. Addtionally, customers will benefit from a new direct connection to Carling, the Civic Hospital, Parkdale and Tunney's Pasture.

Contrary to recent reports, Denise Richards' reality show, It's Complicated, has not been cancelled.

Strike's damage still felt

COMING SOON: The blast damage done by the writers' strike is still being felt in some pretty strange, even desperate decisions being made by the networks on the eve of the new fall TV season's debuts. Besides the full-court press being made on behalf of 90210 version 2.0 by the CW (OK, I've broken my own rule about not mentioning the show until it debuts — that didn't take long), there's NBC's full order of 22 episodes for the second season of Chuck, made before the debut of the comedy's sophomore season.

IntelleVision

"This show has really hit its stride and deserves a full-season commitment to carry out the producers' vision for this unique series," Teri Weinberg, head of the network's development department, told TV Week. It's good to know that they're giving out clairvoyance along with corporate credit cards and seats in the corporate box for Lakers games.

ABC has also renewed Here Come The Newlyweds, a reality show that I've never heard of anyone watching, and E! insists that, contrary to previous reports, they haven't canceled It's Complicated, the reality vehicle starring Denise "I was married to Charlie Sheen and you saw my bewbies in Wild Things" Richards. "The show has not been cancelled," a rep for the network told OK! magazine. "The series has performed well for the network and decisions are still being made regarding a second season."

ABC has also renewed Here Come The Newlyweds, a reality show that I've never heard of anyone watching.

Variety announced earlier this week that CTV has given a green light to a second 13-episode season of Flashpoint, though there's no word on whether CBS will be its primetime partner again, a cross-border deal that hadn't been seen in more than a decade. The Canadian network had better be hoping for another strike, or the complete failure of CBS' primetime roster, if they're going to see a repeat of the deal; for U.S. TV executives, having to import Canadian programming to make up for a scheduling shortfall is only slightly less embarrassing than reviving American Gladiators.

Entertainment in brief

TELEVISION Canadian broadcaster CTV, host broadcaster of the 2010 Olympics from Vancouver/Whistler, is planning round-the-clock coverage of the Winter Games. Keith Pelley, president of the CTV/Rogers Communications consortium that holds the Canadian rights to the Games, said that the broadcaster intends to air or stream every second of the Vancouver/Whistler sporting action across a cluster of domestic TVetworks and media platforms

FILM The Telluride Film Festival will show fewer American movies than usual at its upcoming 2008 edition with foreign titles dominating the list of 23 new features unveiled on Thursday from hundreds of entries. The four-day event in the picturesque town of Telluride, Colorado, a mining camp turned ski resort in the Rockies, prides itself on shying away from the glitz and glamour of other film festivals and has in recent years paved the way for such hits as Brokeback Mountain and Juno.

The selection for this year's 35th annual showcase, opening on Friday.

FOURTH SEASON NBC has renewed America's Got Talent for a fourth season. Got Talent is the most-watched show of the summer and ranked third among programs in the adults 18 to 49 demographic. The series took a break during NBC's presentation of the Olympics, then resumed Tuesday at 8 p.m. and easily led the night in ratings. REUTERS

Bawdy humour from the Bard

Young troupe pulls off 'the most raunchy version' of Shakespeare classic

Jonah Allingham as Oberon and Bryony Etherington as Titania play a scene from Salamander Theatre's production of A Midsummer Night's Dream, running tonight and tomorrow night at the National Arts Centre Fourth Stage.

From the time she was a toddler, Meryl Grinhaus knew she wanted to be a performer.

She would sing in her playpen — making up her own tunes — and when she was a little older she would perform plays with her brother.

But she says performing as part of the Shakespeare Young Company, for Salamander Theatre's current production of A Midsummer Night's Dream has definitely been the best acting experience of her life.

"It's been incredible, and very challenging and demanding at times, but I think taking part in this show has been an amazing learning experience," says the 25-year-old.

The production of the classic Shakespearean comedy features Grinhaus as well as Jonah Allingham, Artem Barry, Tom Blazejewicz, Bryony Etherington, Anna Lewis, Kira Menzies, Ramona Murphy, Will Somers, Patrick Souter and Julia Taylor. It began as an outdoor touring show visiting various local parks since the beginning of July, and recently made the transition indoors to the National Arts Centre Fourth Stage.

"There is a lot in here your high school teacher didn't reveal about Shakespeare ... It's fast, it's funny and the people on stage are having such a great time and that kind of energy is contagious."
Eleanor Crowder, director

The actors — some who are still in high school — play multiple roles, and have had to adapt quickly to the changes in settings, but director Eleanor Crowder says she's been amazed by the young performers' creativity and adaptability.

"Each show has been wonderful and different from the next. They may be young, but these are performers who are definitely sure they want to be actors and the long stretch has really given them a chance to grow and get a handle on their roles," says Crowder.

Grinhaus says it's been a pleasure for her to work with such a talented and hard-working cast, but she credits Crowder's direction — and some creative tweaks to the original script — as the main reason the show has been drawing big crowds all summer long.

"[Crowder] has so much faith in us and she's really given us free reign to discover our characters, and some really funny, unique stuff has come out of that," says Grinhaus.

And a lot of the humour is particularly bawdy, which Crowder says makes it the kind of Shakespeare-an production most everyone can find entertaining.

"There is a lot in here your high school teacher didn't reveal about Shakespeare," Crowder says with a laugh.

"I think this is the most raunchy version of the play I've ever seen. It's fast, it's funny and the people on stage are having such a great time and that kind of energy is contagious."

See Joe Smile pairs with pal for piano pop music

GetOutThere

Kim Mannix Vermette
kim.mannixvermette@metronews.ca

He's happy strumming a guitar, or banging out beats on the drums, but when it comes to songwriting, Joe Cousineau is most comfortable behind a piano.

Cousineau — who performs solo under the moniker See Joe Smile "because it's just more fun" — says composing pop on the piano is maybe a bit less conventional than the traditional guy with a guitar, but it's been working well for him since his first forays into songwriting five years ago.

"The piano has been around for hundreds of years and I think everyone thinks of it as a tool for learning and writing classical pieces," says the Ottawa musician.

"But you can really express yourself on any instrument when you find one that works for you and for me, that's the piano."

He is shy to talk much about his influences — including Paul McCartney and Ben Folds — for fear they might sound too cliché, but when you listen to See Joe Smile's tunes it's clear he has developed a sound all his own.

Whether singing about life, love, or something as unexpected as Mexican Furniture — the title of one of his tracks — the songs are fresh and catchy.

Cousineau says he sometimes relies on the promotional capabilities of MySpace and Facebook to spread the word about upcoming shows, or expose people to his music, but he is also a fan of a more traditional way of building a fan base.

"For me, it's really about the live show. It's the only real way to get to know a musician or band and decide if it's worth hearing more," he explains.

"For me, it's really about the live show. It's the only real way to get to know a musician or band and decide if it's worth hearing more."
Joe Cousineau, songwriter

Which is one of the reasons why he is so interested in making his live shows entertaining and intimate from start to finish.

Tonight he will perform with friend and fellow musician Lukas Grant in what he calls a great complimentary pairing of styles.

"I'm hoping it will be a neat dynamic. Lukas focuses more on the introspective singer/songwriter music, where as mine tend to be pop-oriented tunes about life, but somehow they just go together."

where and when

- See Joe Smile plays with Lukas Grant at 8 p.m. tonight at Avant-Garde, 135 ½ Besserer Street. Admission is $5 at the door.

Kim Mannix Vermette has a passion for exploring the local music, theatre, visual arts and literature scenes.

Gunn talks looks

FASHION Project Runway mentor Tim Gunn recently weighed in on actress Katie Holmes' look, saying he "can't explain it," and now he's chimed in on singer/actress Miley Cyrus.

"(Miley Cyrus) is just a little too tarty, forgive me. I don't want her to look like she's going into a convent school, but it's just a little too much for a 15-year-old. If I didn't know better, I'd swear she was 25," Gunn told OK! magazine. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Lohan hits out at dad over friend

DISPUTE Lindsay Lohan has lashed out at her father Michael after he accused his daughter's rumoured girlfriend Samantha Ronson of using the actress to increase her own public profile, imdb.com reports.

Michael slammed Ronson earlier this week after claiming he had heard rumours she is set to release a tell-all book about her life."She's using my daughter," he said. "People never even knew who Samantha Ronson was until she met Lindsay … This is not in Lindsay's best interest."

But Lindsay is said to believe it's her dad who doesn't have her best interest at heart, insisting he is "out of control."

"I want him to stop hurting and talking to the media about the people I love," she said. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Romo 'perfect,' Simpson says

COUPLES Singer Jessica Simpson has declared her boyfriend Tony Romo her "perfect guy," People.com reports.

"I just told him today, 'You're the love of my life,'" she told People. "I don't really ever say that to anybody."

Simpson, 28 (as is Dallas Cowboys quarterback Romo), also co-wrote a song for her man, You're My Sunday and, in a true modern-day sign of devotion, changed her cellphone number and e-mail address to cut off any potential communication from her exes.

"I don't want anybody that's been in my life (before) in my life anymore," she said. "I don't even want them to have any way of contacting me."

Romo hasn't done the same, but Simpson brushed it off.

"I'm not a jealous girlfriend," she said.

As for her own one-time relationship with singer John Mayer — which began in 2006 and fizzled out last summer — Simpson survived its rockiness by doing some self-appraisal afterwards.

"I had to regain self-esteem and self-value," she said

When it comes to relationships, Simpson said she gives over her heart fully and expects the same in return: "I just love, so I don't understand when people can't do exactly what I do." METRO NEWS SERVICES

Campbell lands a pricey 'gift'

COUPLES Supermodel Naomi Campbell has finally hit it big with her billionaire boyfriend, Vladimir Doronin, PageSix.com reports.

The two were just in her favourite country, Brazil, where he dropped a cool $18.5 million US on a penthouse apartment for Campbell in Jardins, the Upper East Side of Sao Paolo, after Campbell told him how much she loved the country and "wanted to settle down there."

Glamurama.com says the place was a "gift" to the supermodel and the couple will use it as their home in Brazil. Then they travelled to Bahia, where they stayed in a $50,000-a-day beach house.

Campbell, who's trying to improve her rage-plagued image, is also focusing on being photographed at charitable events and launching a clothing line through 284, the new label from Daslu. "It's for strong women. I hope everybody will like it," she told a local Brazilian paper. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Moss art worth millions

EXHIBIT A solid gold statue of supermodel Kate Moss is to go on display at the British Museum, imdb.com reports.

The sculpture, valued at $2.8 million US, has been crafted by artist Marc Quinn.

Tipping the scales at 110 pounds, it is believed to be the largest gold statue built since the time of ancient Egypt.

Quinn said he chose Moss because she was the closest model to human perfection he could find.

"I thought the next thing to do would be to make a sculpture of the person who is the ideal beauty of the moment. But even Kate Moss doesn't live up to the image," he said.

The Moss statue will be exhibited at the British Museum in October. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Mario Lopez back with ex

ROMANCE Mario Lopez is reportedly back with his ex-girlfriend, Dancing With The Stars partner Karina Smirnoff, imdb.com reports.

The actor split with Smirnoff earlier this year after an 18-month romance, which began when they were paired up as partners on the U.S. reality TV competition.

And the pair appear to be romancing again after being seen canoodling over dinner at New York's Bagatelle restaurant, according to reports. "They were super-flirty," and added that the pair were "very happy, kissing and cuddling," a source said. METRO NEWS SERVICES

"This makes no sense at all..."

by Joe O'Neill

When the shallow, fetid cesspools of celebrity crap and professional sports ooze into one another, I'm like that guy who ran into that other guy and got chocolate in his peanut butter for the first time.

So it is with the Jessica Simpson-Tony Romo romance. But many Dallas Cowboy fans fear Jessica will do for Romo's team what she's done for country music, namely drag it down to places so low even Garth Brooks' friends wouldn't live or hold jobs there. I've decided to let my friend Bart, Texas native and hardcore Cowboys fan, use this space to offer a rebuttal to Jessica:

"Jessica says Tony's the love of her life, but she doesn't understand that the bond that exists between whoever's taking snaps for the Cowboys and his fans dwarfs it. Has she ever sold her blood for a playoff ticket? Didn't think so. Happiness? Not one of my weddings was half as good as any of the Cowboys' Super Bowls.

I wish Jessica would go on Bowling With the Stars or whatever and meet somebody, and let Tony do what he does for people like me, who will love him forever, or until he gets injured or loses a lot."
